A session for parents/carers to gain greater insight into SEMH and how schools are supporting this cohort of children & young people.

We are unable to accommodate children at this event

Hillingdon Parent Carer Forum and Educational Psychology Service are delivering free training targeted at parents and carers across all age ranges focusing on Social Emotional and Mental Health (SEMH) needs, that can present in challenging behaviours.

Hillingdon's new Executive Principal EP will deliver a half day training, working with school staff to provide insight, research, experience and advice on how schools can effectively identify and support children and young people with SEMH needs.

The training will address the following:

- Defining SEMH
- Supporting parents / carers and teaching staff emotional well-being
- National and local context
- Understanding behaviour as communication
- Labelling behaviours
- School exclusions
- Recent research, publications and legislation
- Positive approaches to addressing emotional well-being and behaviour
- Signposting relevant approaches, strategies and interventions

Free refreshments & lunch will be provided
